

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE auction season of 1900 and 1901, the sales of which are recorded in this volume of American Book-Prices Current, without question exceeds in importance any previous season, both in number of sales and value of books dispersed. We record 10,042 lots of books and autographs, which is a considerable increase over any previous season since our compilation was begun.

While our record aims to show all important books and manuscripts selling for over three dollars for the lot, a good many items, necessarily, are thrown out, to keep the volume within reasonable size. Current books which can still be had of the publishers are generally excluded, and in cases where "remainders" are being worked off by throwing copies into numerous sales, a selection only is shown. In other cases, also, where more than three or four copies of the same book have been sold, a representative selection only is generally introduced. Some other items selling at about our limit, more especially books in foreign languages, as well as occasional cases where the catalogue description was too meagre to identify the book, have been excluded.

Taking it for granted that this condensation is uniform through the seven volumes of our work, it is interesting to see the growth of this particular department of the book business in America. Our initial volume for 1895 recorded only 6025 lots; 1896 reached 7411; 1897, 8562; 1898, 7547; 1899, 8859; 1900, 9662; and 1901, 10,042. The growth has been constant with the exception of the single setback in 1898.

This year we have made selections from 190 catalogues, comprising some 347 sales on 303 days. These 190 catalogues included only a little over 114,000 lots, while the preceding season including only some 164 catalogues comprising 340 sessions made up only about 113,000 lots. The great increase of items recorded is accounted for by the superior quality of the material offered. This is brought about mainly by the sale of three libraries, — the McKee Library, the French Library, and the Arnold collection, the season not being otherwise remarkable for quality of books included in the numerous sales.

The season has shown a great increase in auction values of the books which collectors are most ardently seeking. The French and Arnold sales especially broke records on almost every important item. This rise in value is probably permanent, at least until the country is visited by another wave of "hard times." This rise in prices has been most noticeable in the first editions of the greater English and American authors. To secure these enhanced prices, however, copies must be in collectors' condition, either in the original binding, clean and sound throughout, or where it is difficult or impossible to secure copies in such condition, the books must be well bound and the edges not trimmed down.

Another class of books in which there has been a most remarkable increase in price is that including books known among collectors as "presentation" copies. This class might include other books having personal or sentimental interest, either corrections by the author in his autograph or the autograph of some famous former owner. A few years ago the fact that a book contained a presentation inscription would add only a relatively small percentage to the value of any book above a good copy of the same book without such inscription. Now such a book is likely to be worth five or ten times as much as a similar copy without inscription.

The three great libraries dispersed during the season each deserves a chapter by itself. Three sections of the library of the late Thomas J. McKee were sold. Parts IV and V are announced to be sold December, 1901, and January, 1902. This great library is being dispersed under the management of John Anderson, Jr. Part I, comprising American literature in poetry and prose, American plays and American magazines, was sold in four sessions, November 22 and 23, 1900. The most important book, indeed the most valuable first edition of American poetry, Poe's "Tamerlane," brought $2050.00. This is the same copy which cost Mr. McKee at the Maxwell sale in 1895 $1450.00 and ten per cent commission; also the same copy which, then unbound, had brought $1850.00 in 1893. The McKee Library has long been famous for its collection of books by or relating to Poe. Other items brought record prices. "Al Aaraaf, Tamerlane and Minor Poems," 1829, brought $1100 00, and "Poems," 1831, the Brinley copy which sold in 1886 for $150.00, brought $360.00. A copy of "The Raven" and "Tales," New York, 1845, presented by Poe to Mrs. Sarah Helen Whitman, although rebound in one volume in levant morocco, brought $610.00. This volume, with seven other Poe items which in the McKee sale together brought $76.00, making a total of $686.00 for the eight volumes, were a lot which had been bought by Mr. McKee at the Fiske-Harris sale in 1883 for $66.00. Others of the most noticeable items—space obliges us to omit many worthy of mention—were André's "Cow Chace," New York, 1780, which brought $270.00, probably worth much more. Anne Bradstreet's "Tenth Muse," first edition, 1650, $460.00. This copy was the one which brought $100.00 in the Brinley sale. Irving's "History of New York by Diedrich Knickerbocker," the first edition, New York, 1809, in the original boards, edges uncut, brought $292.00, a hitherto unheard-of price, but authorized on account of condition, this copy being supposed unique in this state. Two little books by John Howard Payne, "Juvenile Poems," 1813, and "Lispings of the Muse," 1815, brought $98.00 and $121.00 respectively. Roger Wolcott's "Poetical Meditations," New London, 1725, being the first volume of poetry printed in Connecticut, brought $300.00. This copy, which contained some additional manuscript material inserted, sold for $13.00 in the Brinley sale. No such collection of early American magazines had been offered at auction within recent years. All of those which contained engravings by American artists brought good prices, as did the rarer items among the American plays which formed the third section of the catalogue.

Mr. McKee was one of the most assiduous collectors of books relating to the stage. The Second Part, including books about the stage, such as histories, controversies, biographies, English and American, distinguished from the works of playwrights, was sold in four sessions on January 28 and 29. The collection included several of the very earliest of books on the English stage, such as Gosson's "Players Confuted," 1582, $110.00; Green's "Refutation of the Apology for Actors," 1615, $120.00; Heywood's "Apology for Actors," 1612, $60.00; Heywood's "Actor's Vindication," 1658, $68.00; Downes' "Roscius Anglicanus," 1708, $45.00, etc.

The Third Part of the Library was made up of the most important portion of the Dramatic Library, the original and early editions of English Plays, with some later collected editions. The collection of early quarto plays was said to be the largest ever offered at auction. Many of the copies, unfortunately, were not in first-class condition. All the volumes of special rarity brought high prices, however. The most notable dozen of the early quartos were, perhaps, the following : —

"Cæsar and Pompey" [about 1606 or 1607]	$220.00
Chapman's "Blinde Beggar of Alexandria," 1598	370.00
Lilly's "Woman in the Moone," 1597	300.00
Peele's "Battell of Alcazar," 1594	200.00
Porter's "Historie of the Two Angrie Women of Abington," 1599	240.00
Preston's "Life of Cambises," 1570	250.00
"Sir John Old-castle." Ascribed to Shakespeare, 1600	290.00
Shakespeare's "Henrie the Fourth." 1599, lacking the title-page	490.00
"Contention betweene the Two Famous Houses, Lancaster and Yorke." Ascribed to Shakespeare, 1619	700.00
"The Birth of Merlin." Attributed to Shakespeare, 1662	250.00
"A Warning for Faire Women," 1599	240.00
Woodes's "Conflict of Conscience," 1581	290.00

The McKee First Folio was a poor copy, with eighteen leaves (nine in front and nine at the end) in facsimile. It brought $850.00. Another Shakespeare item which brought a high price was a set, 8 vols., of the Edinburgh edition of 1771, Robert Burns' copy, with his autograph on the title-page of the first volume. This set brought $888.00.

William Harris Arnold bought his first first edition at the Montgomery sale, May 16, 1895. He paid particular attention to first editions of American authors, and brought together the finest collections ever offered at auction of the works of the eight great authors, Bryant, Emerson, Hawthorne, Holmes, Longfellow, Lowell, Thoreau, and Whittier. This collection, the catalogue of which was handsomely printed at the Marion Press, was sold by Bangs on January 30 and 31, 1901. It was the most successful sale of books of this sort which had taken place in recent years, and can be compared only with the Foote sale which occurred in the fall of 1894. The collection as a whole was far superior to Mr. Foote's, both in respect to the condition of the books, which were with very few exceptions in the original bindings, and in the completeness of the lists of works of the various authors, including, as the Arnold collection did, works unknown to Mr. Foote, or at least not in his collection. New records were made on almost all of the important items. Since the auction, Mr. Arnold has published a "Record" of the sale, giving the date when he purchased each book, and whether at auction or of a dealer, also the cost of each item and the selling price.

Hawthorne's first book "Fanshawe," which he purchased of a bookseller in 1896 for $200.00 (then considered a high price), brought $410.00. The copy was an exceptionally fine one. This was the highest priced item in this sale. A few other items which showed remarkable advances on the cost were the following:—

Emerson's autograph manuscript of his "Threnody" was bought for Mr. Arnold at auction in May, 1900, for $24.00, costing him with commissions $26.40. It brought $300.00.

Longfellow's "Outre Mer," 1833 and 1834, Parts I and II, first edition, all issued in this form, in the original paper covers, which cost him at private sale in 1896 $60.00, brought $310.00. "Evangeline," not a very fine copy, which cost him $55.00 in 1896, brought $91.00.

Lowell's rarer books all brought good advances. The "Class Poem," 1838, "A Year's Life," 1841, and "Poems" of Maria Lowell, brought respectively $52.50, $47.00, and $90.00. They cost him respectively $25.00, $25.00, and $57.00.

Other Lowell items showed a much more remarkable advance. "Mason and Slidell," a private issue of the first of the second series of the "Biglow Papers," printed from the types of the Atlantic Monthly, 1862, which cost him $10.35 at private sale in 1897, brought $175.00, and "Il Pesceballo," purchased at private sale in 1898 for $18.00, brought $140.00. "The Commemoration Ode," 1865, 100 printed, presentation copy (as most if not all of the copies which turn up are), cost him $50.00 in 1895, and sold for $220.00. This was considered an extravagant price at the time, but a few weeks later the French copy brought $410.00. Two issues of Lowell's address at Birmingham "On Democracy," one a private London edition, the other the first published edition, cost him together $16.00. They brought together $180.00.

Many other interesting citations of this character might be made. The total of the sale was $7363.17 for books which cost him $3508.16. Of course from this difference he was obliged to pay for printing the catalogue (no small item) and commissions to the auctioneer.

A second sale, comprising most of Mr. Arnold's other books and manuscripts, was sold by Bangs on May 7 and 8, and of this also a "Record" was published. This collection included a long and complete series of first editions of Robert Browning and Mrs. Browning, as well as a number of volumes of early English poetry, two very rare Tennysons, a rare Shelley, etc., besides a small but choice collection of autograph letters and manuscripts. Robert Browning's first book, "Pauline," a fine copy in the original boards but with a hole in one leaf, brought $700.00. It was purchased at auction for Mr. Arnold in 1900 and cost him with commissions $678.70. Mrs. Browning's first book, "The Battle of Marathon," one of six only which seem to have survived out of fifty printed, brought $425.00. This had cost Mr. Arnold $450.00. He did better, however, on two sets of proof sheets. Those of "The Ring and the Book" which brought $680.00 had been bought at auction in 1897 at a cost of $72.88. A proof copy of "Dramatis Personæ," with manuscript title and revisions, brought $455.00. This volume cost at auction in 1897, $42.63. The first edition of Mrs. Browning's "Sonnets," printed privately at Reading in 1847, brought $440.00. This was the first copy of this book ever offered at auction. It cost $115.00 in 1897. A presentation copy of Keats' "Poems," cut down and bound in old morocco but with inscription on title in Keats' autograph, brought $500.00. It was bought of a bookseller in 1895 for $71. A very fine copy in the original sheep of the first issue of Milton's "Paradise Lost," the variety having the author's name in large type (considered the earliest), brought $830.00. It was bought of a bookseller in 1897 for $200.00. Shelley's "Adonais," original Pisa edition of 1821, in the original blue paper cover but with one corner torn off, brought $510.00. It was bought of a bookseller in 1896 for $150.00.

Mr. Arnold reserved his collection of first editions of Tennyson (probably the finest in private hands in America), but a few of which he had duplicates were included, among which were two of the privately printed plays. "The Falcon," 1879, brought $410.00 and "The Promise of May," 1882, brought $430.00. These had cost $350.00 and $330.00 respectively.

Sharing honors with the McKee and Arnold libraries in making new records on rare books, even going further in some cases, was the French sale held by Libbie & Co., at Boston, April 23, 24, and 25. Mr. French was a collector along modern lines, and with very few exceptions his books all brought good prices; some very remarkable ones. He had a complete set, with a single exception, of William Loring Andrews' books, and they all brought very high prices. He had also a choice selection of books illustrated by Cruikshank and some sporting books with colored plates. "The Humorist," 4 vols., 1819-1820, all first editions, in the original board covers, uncut, brought $460.00. Grimm's "Popular Stories," genuine first edition of each volume, and in the original boards, uncut, brought $600.00. The few early English books brought, almost without exception, record prices, as also the rarer first editions of Thackeray and Shelley. On the other hand, first editions of Andrew Lang, of which the catalogue contained the longest list we remember ever to have seen in any sale, brought comparatively moderate prices, less in many cases than those at which they were originally published. Of the few first editions of American authors the most noticeable were five volumes of Lowell, all presentation copies. "The Commemoration Ode," a presentation copy similar to the one which brought $220.00 in the Arnold sale in January, here brought $410.00. The last previous record was a copy which sold in Boston, May 28, 1900, for $60.00. The first edition of the "Vicar of Wakefield" in the original calf brought $620.00, which we believe is the record price. Mr. French was a member of the Grolier Club, and had a complete set of their publications, including seven works printed on vellum. Of these vellum copies no more than three are ever made by the Club, and only two were printed of some of the Club publications. The vellum books excited eager competition, "The Decree of the Star Chamber," the Club's first book, bringing $1600.00; the "Rubaiyat," $1100.00; the "Woffington," $480.00; the "Plantin," $375.00; the "Philobiblon," $825.00; Matthews' "Modern Bookbinding," $900.00; and the "Catalogue of Books from the Libraries of Celebrated Bibliophiles," $650.00. Following the lead of these vellum copies, the copies of the rarer Club publications on paper brought higher prices than they have been bringing recently.

"Queen Mab," first edition, original boards, brought $460.00, and Tennyson's "Poems by Two Brothers," the author's first book, large paper, and in the original boards, with the leaves in large part unopened, brought $360.00. Other items are worthy of mention, but space does not permit.

Mr. French's collection of autographs was sold by C. F. Libbie & Co., on May 2 and 3. There were comparatively few great pieces, the collection being mostly dramatic. An addenda contained a very interesting Dickens item, being an original impression of the broadside describing the walking match between James R. Osgood and James Dolby. This humorous affair was arranged by Dickens, and he drew up the articles of agreement and narrative. They were signed in autograph by Charles Dickens and James T. Fields as umpires and starters, by Osgood and Dolby as contestants, and by A. V. S. Anthony as witness. James T. Fields, in his "Yesterdays with Authors," gives an account of this interesting item. This was A. V. S. Anthony's copy. It brought $90.00, though no doubt worth more.

A third French sale, comprising his etchings and mezzotints, which took place on May 10, does not find a place in our compilation.

Aside from these three sales, there were comparatively few other sales which are worthy of separate notice. Of our 190 catalogues, the majority were made up of material consigned to the auctioneers by various owners; often, no doubt, by book-sellers. Many of these minor sales included rare items, which brought good prices. It is probable, however, that in many cases had the same books been offered in the sale of a great library, such as that of McKee or French, they would have brought higher prices. Good books always bring better prices when the catalogue in which they are offered has the name of some well-known collector on the cover. The fact that a book is from a famous library generally adds a little to its market value. Buyers examine such catalogues more carefully, and such sales stimulate collecting.

The collection, largely Americana, described as the Library of Charles B. Rogers, of Baltimore, sold by Mr. Henkels, October 16 and 17, 1900, included a few items of more than general interest. The most important was a little book described briefly under the head of "Pamphlets" as "745 Moll Pitcher, A Poem, 8vo, uncut, Boston, 1832." The other pamphlets in the same class, of which there were upwards of a hundred, brought some of them only thirty to fifty cents each. This "Moll Pitcher," which is actually Whittier's first poetical publication in book form, brought $190.00. It was as issued, except that it had lost the back cover.

The Library of the late Franklin B. Hough, author and editor of a great number of historical works, was sold at the Fifth Avenue Auction Rooms, from October 17 to 20, 1900. It included a large number of what we may call second-rate Americana, although there were few or no pieces of first-rate importance. This was the only sale of much importance held by other than the four well-known book auction houses during the season.

In the sale of Dr. Charles E. Clark's collection of American Portraits, made by C. F. Libbie & Co., from January 15 to 17, were included a few very interesting autographs, the most important being the correspondence between George Washington and Sir Isaac Heard in reference to Washington's genealogy. This collection contained two autograph letters, signed, of Washington's, with his pedigree drawn up and signed by himself, together with Sir Isaac Heard's own copies of his letters to Washington, and the Washington pedigree as drawn up by him. The collection brought $1750.00. Another interesting manuscript in the same sale was the original manuscript record of the formation of the Concord Company of "Minute Men." This brought $275.00. The portraits, which formed the bulk of the catalogue, do not find a place in our compilation.

The Library of George L. Balcom, of Claremont, N. H., occupied four days' sale at Libbie's, from February 5 to 8. Comparatively few items of first-class rarity were represented, though the library was one of the best private collections relating to New Hampshire, including many books relating to other New England States. The rarities were, however, generally represented by reprints. There was a fine uncut copy of the rare little book, Mason's "History of the Pequot War," which, edited by Thomas Prince, was first printed in 1736. This brought $445.00. Some other originals of slightly less interest or value will be found scattered through our record.

A collection of duplicates from the Harris-Anthony collection, now in the Brown University, Providence, was sold by John Anderson, Jr., in three sessions, from April 10 to 12. Many brought good prices, though, as the books had library stamps and so many of them were poor copies, they made but few new records. The most important item (which, by the way, was omitted from the catalogue, being described on a postal card sent out later) was a copy of Whittier's "Moll Pitcher," being the fourth time that the book was offered during the season. This was bound in boards, but contained, bound in at the end, the original front paper cover, very fresh and clean. It brought $270.00, the highest price ever realized for the book at auction. Another item, the value of which did not seem to be appreciated, was an uncut copy of Lowell's "Poems" of 1844, on large paper. It brought $150.00, which, when compared with prices paid for other rare Lowells during the season, seems low.

The few "Broad-sides" of importance which have been sold during the year are inserted as a separate alphabet, following the books and preceding the Autographs.

The arrangement throughout is generally the same as the previous volumes. Books are entered under their author, where the author is known; otherwise, under the first important word of the title. To this there are some exceptions. Anonymous histories and biographies will usually be found under their subjects. The publications of clubs and societies are usually under the name of the society; but, occasionally, publications of some of the minor societies will be found under the name of their author. Different books by the same author are arranged alphabetically by titles, and different editions of the same book are arranged according to date of publication. Books from the Kelmscott Press have in the two preceding volumes been entered under Kelmscott, instead of under author or title, as in the earlier volumes. This year, for the first time, the Vale Press books and Roycroft books are brought together under Vale and Roycroft. Books from other private, or semi-private, presses will be found entered under author. The Autographs are, of course, arranged alphabetically by authors.

The date given under each lot is that of the first day of the sale. The full period covered may be found by referring to the chronological list of sales following this Preface. The number in parentheses is the original lot number in the sale catalogue. Books in American auction rooms are sold by the volume, but the prices here given are for the lot, not per volume.

The abbreviations used in describing the autographs are well known to all collectors. A. L. S. is Autograph Letter Signed; A. L. is Autograph Letter, unsigned; L. S. is Letter Signed, the signature only autographic; A. D. S. is Autographic Document Signed; D. S. is Document Signed.
